The Russian Department of Customs have issued a circular explanatory of the new Regulations respecting the clearance of vessels in Russian ports, which came into operation in July last, the effect of which is that when bills-of-lading are not forthcoming or are null and void under the new Regulations, masters can avoid the full penalties under section 10 of the Regulations, and bring themselves under section 12 by acting in the following manner :—

Under section 9 of the new Regulations, “a bill-of-lading shall be considered null and void when it shall not contain any of the following particulars, and the goods to which it refers shall be treated as imported without a bill-of-lading :—
